1. Introduction:

The Companies Act 2013 ('the Act') and the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 ('SEBI LODR') as amended from time to time prescribe comprehensive regulatory framework governing the Related Party Transactions.

The Act and the SEBI LODR also require the Companies to adopt comprehensive policy on dealing with the Related Parties.

In the context of above, in compliance with the provisions of the Act and SEBI LODR, the Board of Directors of Company upon recommendation of the Audit Committee has adopted this Policy on Materiality of and Dealing with Related Party Transactions ('the Policy').

The Policy inter-alia encompasses process for identification of Related Parties, procedure for entering into Related Party Transactions and procedure for approving Related Party Transactions, etc.

2. Definitions:

- (a) "Act" means Companies Act, 2013 including any statutory modification or re-enactment thereof.
- (b) "Audit Committee" means Committee of Board of Directors of the Company constituted under the provisions of SEBI LODR and the Act.
- (c) "Board" means Board of Directors of the Company.
- (d) "Ordinary Course of Business" if transactions satisfy any of the following criteria, such transactions will generally be in the Ordinary Course of Business:
 - I. The Memorandum of Association of the Company should cover such transaction;
 - II. There are previous instances of the Company having carried out such transaction;
 - III. These transactions are frequent over a period of time;
 - IV. The transaction should be in furtherance of the business objectives of the Company;
 - V. The transactions, if not frequent, are important to the business objectives of Company;
 - VI. The transactions are incidental to Industry/part of standard industry practice or but for which the business would be adversely affected.

The Application and Other Explanatory Material of SA 550 on Related Parties, issued by the ICAI, provides examples of transactions that can be considered to be outside the entity's normal course of business (akin to ordinary course of business). Although these are not conclusive, they will be considered as guidance to be used, based on facts and circumstances, to conclude whether a transaction can be considered to be in the ordinary course of business.

The examples provided in SA 550 that may be considered to be outside the entity's normal course of business include:

- Complex equity transactions, such as corporate restructurings or acquisitions.
- The leasing of premises or the rendering of management services by the entity to another party if no consideration is exchanged.
- Sales transactions with unusually large discounts or returns.
- Transactions with offshore entities in jurisdictions with weak corporate laws.
- Transactions with circular arrangements, for example, sales with a commitment to repurchase.

This is not exhaustive criteria and the Company should assess each transaction considering its specific type, nature, value and circumstances.

(e) "Arms' Length"

The company adopts generally accepted practices and principles in determining whether the transaction is at arm's length. In the absence of any definition in the Act, the company may refer to the guidance given in Income Tax Laws. Determining the arm's length price is a matter of judgment, and it shall be assessed on a case-to-case basis, depending upon the facts and circumstances in each case.

Following are some of the information that may be used to determine the arm's length basis analysis, such as:

- Price charged by the Company to other third-party unrelated parties.
- Third-party comparable commercial offers/quotations, valuation reports, price publications.
- Management assessment of pricing terms and business and justification for the proposed transaction.
- Comparative analysis, if any, of other such transactions entered into by the Company.

If arm's length price cannot be justified for any transaction, then approval should be taken from Board and shareholders as required under Act.

In determining whether to approve or ratify a related party transaction the Committee/ Board as the case may be shall take into account among other factors it deems appropriate, whether the related party transaction is in the ordinary course of business of the company and on arm's length basis and the extent of the related party's interest in the transaction.
